DENVER IS SELECTED

Democratic National Convention to Be Held There.

TIME SET IS JULY 8TH 1908

Spirited Debate Resulted Over Acceptance of the $100,000 Offered by the Colorado City for Convention Purposes—Publicity Resolution.

Washington, Dec. 14.—After deciding to hold the next democratic national convention at Denver, Colo., and fixing the date of the meeting for July 7, 1908, the democratic national committee late Thursday entered upon a spirited debate on the propriety of accepting more than the $100,000 offered by Denver for the convention than actually was needed to pay the convention expenses in that city.

The opposition to the acceptance took the form of a resolution by Representative Clayton, of Alabama, declining money not actually needed for convention purposes, but after a long debate the resolution was laid on the table by a vote of 31 to 14.

The committee held two sessions during the day, the principal business of the first session after roll call being the discussion of the following resolution presented by R. M Johnston, of Texas:

"Resolved, That the democratic national committee cordially approves the movement now under way to secure publicity in the states as well as in the nation of money contributed and of expenditures made by any association or any other organization for political purposes."

Cromwell Gibbons, of Florida, approved this resolution, and Senator Tillman spoke upon it in characteristic manner. He offered an amendment to the resolution which was of the same purport, and he said he did so in order to make it more explicit.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, wished to make the resolution read so that it would prohibit all kinds of contributions, whether money or anything else.

Mr. McGraw moved that the thanks of the committee be extended to Perry Belmont because of what he had done to secure publicity of campaign contributions. The resolution was adopted.

The committee, before adjournment, received the standing committee of correspondents of this city, consisting of Maurice Splain, J. P. Hornady and Thomas J. Pence, who requested that when arrangements for the press at the convention are made, they should meet jointly with the press committee of the convention to take up matters concerning arrangements for the accommodation of correspondents. This was agreed to, and the committee adjourned.

TWO PERSONS ASPHYXIATED.

Infant's Cries Save Eight Others from a Like Fate.

Allentown, Pa., Dec. 14—The cries of an infant saved the lives of eight persons here early Friday, but not before the baby's father and brother had been asphyxiated by coal gas.

The dead are:

Nicholas Contravo, 36 years old.

Joseph Contravo, aged 4 years.

Contravo, with his wife and two children, slept in one room and six boarders occupied other parts of the house. The escaping coal gas awakened the baby, whose cries aroused one of the boarders. He broke down the door of the room occupied by the Contravos and found the father and son dead. He then rescued the mother and baby and roused the other boarders, who had also been overcome.

Tried by Courtmartial.

New York, Dec. 14.—Captain Arthur W. Chase, commander of Fort Howard, Md., is on trial by courtmartial in New York on charges of having used disrespectful language to Lieutenant Colonel Clarence Deems, commander of the Baltimore artillery district, and Captain Chase's immediate superior. Captain Chase is charged in addition with conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.

TO DAM BLACK WARRIOR.

War Department Awards Important Contract to Pittsburg Firm.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Of far-reaching importence to industrial workers in the south and in the Pennsylvania iron and mine fields was the action of the war department Thursday in awarding a contract for the construction of two large dams on the Black Warrior river, in Alabama, to the Pittsburg corporation known as the Dravo Contracting company, at their bid of $700,000. This corporation already has done much river and harbor work for the government, but it is now, with the knowledge of the war department, about to engage in an experiment of great interest and importance to the south in undertaking to carry out this last large project by the use of white labor exclusively.

The basis for the decision is the fact that the contractors believe they can, at the present time, easily secure the necessary amount of high grade white labor in Pennsylvania and adjacent manufacturing states, as a result of the existing industrial depression. The object of the dams is to open to slack water navigation the Black Warrior river, giving access to the great coal fields that are expected to supply the large quantity of fuel required for the shipping that will frequent the Panama canal.

PREDICTS BLOODY REVOLUTION.

Afterward China Will Become a World Power, Says Prof. Anderson.

San Francisco, Calif., Dec. 14.—Professor L. D. Anderson, professor of the Soo Chow university, who arrived here Thursday on the liner Siberia, believes that, upon the death of the empress dowager, China will be the scene of a bloody revolution. That revolution, he believes, will mark China's entrance into the parliament of the world as a power to be reckoned with.

Professor Anderson, who has spent many years in China, says that the people of China are now wideawake to the necessity for education; that the power of the people is steadily growing, and at the same time the populace and its rulers were drifting apart.

"A revolution is impending. In the nature of things it is bound to be a bloody one, but China will be all the better for it, and in the hands of new and enlightened administrators who will instill the confidence of the people, China will be one of the greatest nations on earth."

To Move 40,000 Tons of Sugar.

New York, Dec. 14—The Journal of Commerce announces that the American Sugar Refining company has just chartered nine steamers to bring raw sugar from New Orleans direct to the refineries in New York. The nine steamers will carry among them 40,000 tons of sugar. It is said that during the recent financial flurry a large quantitiy of raw sugar was purchased in the south at a very low figure, said to be 25 cents below the present market price. It is to move the sugar thus purchased that the charters have been made.

Pays Penalty of Death.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Richard Walton, negro, was hanged here Friday for the murder of Mrs. Louise Grant, white, 1st September. The crime for which Walton suffered death was the murder of Mrs. Louise Grant on the night of Sept. 19. Mrs. Grant was a kindergarten instructor, and had for many years managed schools of this character in connection with various local churches.

Costly Fire at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Dec. 14.—A spectacular fire, attended by much excitement, almost completely wiped out the big plant of the Pfau Manufacturing company, makers of plumbers' supplies, Wednesday. The loss will be between $12,000 and $150,000, upon which there is believed to be about 75 per cent insurance.

Dixon Quits the Race.

Columbus, Ga., Dec. 14.—Jas. T. Dixon has withdrawn from the race for sheriff of Muscogee county, leaving Sheriff E. F. Roberts and Captain J. A. Beard as the only candidates.

CITIZENS ON GUARD

Hopkinsville In Dread of Attack From Night Riders.

EVERY ROAD IS PATROLLED

Bankers, Ministers, Lawyers and Men of All Trades Are Taking a Turn at Guard Duty—Will Defend the City With Their Lives.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Dec. 14.—With company D on duty and a large number of citizens guarding every road leading into the city, Hopkinsville passed another night without attack by night riders.

Rumors are rife that another invasion may be expected and the people are preparing to defend the city with their lives. On account of the threatened labor troubles at Hopkinsville County mines, the Burlington company, which came here Wednesday, returned home.

Governor Willson has telephoned Major Bassett, in charge of the troops here, that Kentucky's new adjutant general, Major J. P. [illegible] of Lexington, would arrive in Hopkinsville Friday and personally investigate the situation.

The question of sending additional troops here will depend upon his recommendation. In the meantime Hopkinsville's most prominent citizens, including bankers, merchants, ministers of the gospel, lawyers and men of all trades and callings are taking their turns at guarding the town.

AN ECCENTRIC WILL.

New York, Dec. 14—Through the death of her father, Mrs. Swager Sherley, wife of a congressman from Kentucky, is the richer by a pair of gold cuff buttons. Her sister has come into the possession of a gold seal ring.

Mrs. Sherley is the daughter of Defress Critten, of New York, who died recently, and by his will all of his estate, except the cuff buttons and the ring willed to his daughters, goes to his wife.

Mrs. Sherley is a close friend of Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and her marriage resulted from the trip to the Philippines on which Secretary Taft entertained a party of congressmen, a trip which also resulted in the engagement of Miss Roosevelt to Congressman Longworth.

Benefit to Former Actress.

New York, Dec. 14.—An enormous audience gathered at the Broadway Theater Thursday for the benefit tendered to Mrs. McKee Rankin, once known to the stage as Kitty Blanchard, who is now ill and in need. The net receipts of the benefit were $7,500. The principal number of the program was the trial scene from "The Merchant of Venice," with Ermete Novelli, the famous Italian tragedian, as Shylock, and Viola Allen as Portia.

Large Deal Consumated.

San Francisco, Calif., Dec. 14—One of the largest deals arranged here since the fire of April 18, 1906, was, it is said, consumated Thursday when the papers were signed by which the American Can company, the wealthy eastern concern, absorbed the United Can company, its largest rival on the Pacific Coast. The considerations exceed $1,000,000 but the parties to the transaction refused to divulge the exact amount.

MAYOR TOM VISITS ROOSEVELT.

Also Shakes Hands with His Former Opponent, Burton.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Mayor Tom Johnson, of Cleveland, Ohio, was received by President Roosevelt Thursday and stated upon leaving the White House that the president had been very gracious to him.

"It was the first time I have seen Mr. Roosevelt since he became president. I knew him as civil service commissioner," said Mr. Johnson.

"He gave me decidedly more time than I had expected. We were discussing municipal government and I enjoyed receiving his views exceedingly."

"What have you to say as to the president's third term announcement?"

"As I said Wednesday, I think the president did the proper thing in making the announcement."

Mayor Johnson, as he stepped out of the president's cabinet room, came face to face with Representative Burton, who was recently his political opponent in Cleveland. The two greeted each other with a handshake and Mr. Burton passed at once into the president's conference room.

"Yes, I shook hands over the bloody chasm with Mr. Burton," laughingly remarked Mr. Johnson. "It was the first time I have seen him since the Cleveland election."

GRUESOME FIND.

Dead Infant Wrapped in Sheet Found on Train of Central Railway.

Albany, Ga., Dec. 14.—Passengers on the Central of Georgia train which left Albany at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon were horrified when at a point between Florala and Lockhart, Ala., a bundle which had been on a seat for an indefinite time was opened and found to contain the dead body of a white infant, apparently not more than two days old.

The body was wrapped in a towel, a sheet and a newspaper and is believed to have been placed in the train at Albany, though this is not known with certainty. The back of the infant's head had been crushed by a blow, and it is supposed that the injury caused its death. The find caused great consternation on the train, but the most industrious investigation has failed to clear up the deep mystery which surrounds the case.

Amsterdam, Dec. 14—Emperor William, of Germany, arrived here Friday on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern from Fort Victoria, England, and was greeted by members of the royal family of the Netherlands.

Prince Henry boarded the Hohenzollern and escorted the emperor to a pavillion on the shore where Queen Wilhelmina awaited him. The greetings were cordial and the emperor kissed the queen's hand. Their majesties then drove through the crowded streets to the palace, where they subsequently appeared at a public reception and were given an ovation by the assembled throng.

STORMY ON ATLANTIC

Steamer Puts Into Port In Battered Condition.

NARROW ESCAPE OF CREW

Great Waves Broke Over the Vessel and the Men Were Almost Swept Overboard—Captain and Two Officer Each Had a Leg Broken.

Queenstown, Dec. 14—The steamer Baku Standard, Lazer, from Rouen for Philadelphia, put into this port Friday, bearing the marks of the terrific weather which prevailed on the Atlantic.

The steamer is considerably damaged, and several of the crew carried away.

Captain Foster and Second Officer Ross each had a leg broken. Their wounds were set shortly after.

The Baku Standard was much in the heavy seas that swept the ocean and the vessel with several seamen, had a hard job to steady her. They were amidst the heavy seas for days, and the sea broke over the vessel, carrying away all the boats of the [illegible].

Several men nearly were carried overboard.

CENTRAL GOVERNMENTAL BANK.

Scheme Suggested by Former Director of United States Mint.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—George E. Roberts, former director of the United States mint, now president of the Commercial National bank of Chicago, in addressing the Men's club of St. Luke's Episcopal church of Evanston Thursday night, announced that he was heartily in favor of the establishment of a central governmental bank.

"The time has come," he said, "when the United States must follow the example of every other important country of the world and establish a governmental bank. It should be not antagonistic to the existing national banks, but supplement to their system as their crowning glory with its capital apportioned among the 6,000 national banks according to their capital. The benefits that would accrue to the country from such an institution cannot be estimated."

Mr. Roberts placed the blame for the present panic upon the lack of any general provision for a proper increase in the supply of currency.

"I suppose it is too much to hope for any competent and efficient currency legislation by the present congress," he continued. "It is a big and cumbersome body and when we consider that there is much difference of opinion among bankers on the subject it is no wonder that the congressmen are confused."

"BLACK SPORT" GUILTY.

Slayer of Officer Manier Must Pay for Murder in First Degree.

Atlanta, Dec. 14.—The [illegible] drew Johnson, "Black Sport," negro who shot and killed J. N. Manier of the Atlanta police force on the 4th of last week, was sealed [illegible] m. Thursday afternoon the jury, after thirty minutes deliberation returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

Johnson showed no emotion when the fact he remained passive all through the day when the battle for his life was waged between Solicitor [illegible] the state and Attorneys Hammond and Chapman for the defense.

He appeared at ease on the stand and with much gusto exhibited the scars on his head and hand said to have been made when he was struggling with Officer Manier.

The defense put up an exceptionally strong plea, both Mr. Hammond and Mr. Chapman fighting hard for the life of the defendant, but the case was clearly against them from the start to the finish.

He was sentenced by Judge Roan to be hanged on January 3, 1908, Friday, between the hours of 10 and 2 o'clock.

Department Was Called to University, But Damage Was Very Slight.

A telephone alarm of fire was sent in from the University at 10:15 Saturday morning, which summoned the department promptly.

The fire started in the laboratory, but the origin is not known. The damage is slight, however, as the flames were extinguished with the use of chemical apparatus.

The department responded with the usual promptness, and was at the scene of the fire within ten minutes after the turning in of the alarm.

Chief O'Neill and his efficient department are to be congratulated upon their work in all matters pertaining to their duty, as the chief has the men trained to a fine point. There is no more efficient fire department in the State than exists in Gainesville at this time.

SEA ISLAND COTTON.

Savannah Market Firm for Georgia and Florida Fancy Staple.

Savannah, Ga., Dec. 14.—The market for Sea Islands was firm for fancy, Georgia and Florida, and easier for the two lowest grades quoted, with good sales reported.

The demand was chiefly for fancy and for extra fine and fine. There was a moderate demand for extra choice and choice Georgias, but very little for the same grades of Floridas. Quotations are unchanged for the high grades, but show some decline for the lower grades.

There were no new developments concerning the crop except the census bureau report on the ginning to December 1, which appeared on Monday. The amount this year was for Florida, 19,696; Georgia, 27,738; South Carolina, 7,707; a total of 55,141 bales, against 41,250 last year, and 81,675 in 1905. The report is taken as confirming the previous estimate of about 80,000 bales.

When to Go Home.

From The Bluffton (Ind.) Banner: "When tired out, go home. When you want consolation, go home. When you want fun, go home. When you want to show others that you have reformed, go home and let your family get acquainted with the fact. When you want to show yourself at your best go home and do the act there. When you feel like being extra liberal go home and practice on your wife and children first. When you want to shine with extra brilliancy go home and light up the whole household." To which we would add, when you have a bad cold go home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and a quick cure is certain. For sale by all druggists.

THE DAILY SUN, 10c a Week

GAINESVILLE'S ADVANCEMENT.

Interested Party Bears Witness to Rapid Improvement of City.

Editor Sun: Can it be possible that any sane person would write a letter to The Times-Union or any other paper asserting (in a late number of the paper, as your excerpt shows he did) that the city of Gainesville was not progressing?

To anyone residing in Gainesville it is not necessary to assert that the city is progressing fast. They cannot help seeing it, and anyone who visits the city after four or five years' absence is simply astonished at its wonderful progress, and though I am not a total abstainer, yet honesty compels me to admit that there has been more improvements made in the few years since prohibition was enforced that in double the length of time before.

I have been away from Gainesville for about seven months, and even in that short time the improvement made and being made cannot but be evident to any not wilfully blind. I would enumerate them, but it would make my letter too long.

I may add, that I am not financially interested, do not own any real estate, and am not even a tax-payer, and therefore am totally unprejudiced, and I reiterate that anyone who cannot or will not see the wonderful advancement made by Gainesville in the past few years must be lamentably blind. JUDSON JOTTINGS.

Judson, Dec. 13.—Things are very quiet in our town. Quite a number of persons are moving. Our merchant, J. N. Wood, has moved, leaving only one store in Judson now. Mr. Wood sold out to Geo. W. Overstreet.

On last Wednesday evening we had a pound party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Collins. Music and games were indulged in until a late hour, when all repaired to the dining-room, where a sumptuous supper was partaken of. There were a few games after supper, when the many guests departed, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Collins many happy returns of the evening.

A Home Made Happy by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

About two months ago our baby girl had measles which settled on her lungs and at last resulted in a severe attack of bronchitis. We had two doctors but no relief was obtained. Everybody thought she would die. I went to eight different stores to find a certain remedy which had been recommended to me and failed to get it, when one of the storekeepers insisted that I try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did so and our baby is alive and well today.—Geo. W. Spencer, Holly Springs, N. C. For sale by all druggists.

SOCIAL AT FAIRBANKS.

Reception Given in Honor of Two Visiting Young Ladies.

Fairbanks, Dec. 14.—On Friday night a social was given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Hardee in honor of Miss Cora Wittstock and Miss Artie Starling, who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hardee. The house was decorated in white and pink. Various games were participated in, and ice cream and cake were served. A violin solo was rendered by Miss Annie Hardee, and a beautiful piano solo by Miss Cora Wittstock. Little Miss Viola Hardee received the guests at the door.

Mr. Boardman and Miss Wittstock cut the two cakes, for which there were two prizes. Miss Wittstock received the ring and Mr. Boardman a fountain pen.

A solo was sung by Miss Wittstock, which was appreciated by all.

The young people thank Mr. and Mrs. Hardee for the social, which was from 8 to 11 o'clock.

ATTACKED BY CROWS.

Hunter Barely Escapes With His Life from Enraged Birds.

Chicago, Dec. 14—A dispatch to the Record-Herald, from Freeport, Ills., says:

Paul Niles, a hunter, was attacked by an enormous flock of crows near here Thursday and barely escaped with his life.

Niles had fired into the flock, wounding several, and the others attacked him. The man started to run but was knocked down and pecked about the face and eyes and beaten almost insensible by the birds' wings.

With the greatest difficulty, he crawled to a nearby barn with the birds fighting him all the way and it was not until he was inside that they desisted. Niles is in a critical condition.

Man Fought with Eagle.

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 14.—Chas. K. Kench, of East Litchfield, was severely injured in a fight with an eagle. The eagle seized Kench's dog, but turned its attention to the man when Kench went to the dog's rescue. Kench's scalp was badly torn and his face and hands scratched by the bird's beak and claws, but he finally managed to cut its throat with a trowel which he had in his hand.

Two Killed by Train.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Isaac Jacobson and Abraham Lesline were killed on Thursday night when they stepped in front of an express train on the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago electric railroad tracks at Maywood. Both men believed it to be a local and that it would stop at the platform. Instead the train running at a high speed hit both men as they were crossing the last rail and it ran four blocks before it could be stopped.

Thirty-Six Years with Company.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—After thirty-six consecutive years with the Pullman company, George F. Bidwell, 64 years of age, treasurer of that corporation and recently its acting president, has retired from active service. Mr. Bidwell entered the employ of the Pullman company in 1871. He has been retired on a pension and K. Dewitt has been elected treasurer in his place.

FATAL NEW YORK FIRE

One Person Burned to Death, Others Have Narrow Escapes.

New York, Dec. 14—While the firemen labored to extinguish a fire and save the horses from a stable in East Ninth street Friday, one man was burned to death and another man and a woman narrowly escaped death from suffocation in a house in the rear of the stable.

The firemen declare they were told by the police that the house was vacant. The stable, a small structure containing nine horses, was practically destroyed with its contents when Fire Chief Croker was informed that there were persons in the building behind the stable, the lower floor of which was ablaze.

Denouncing the police for failing to notify him earlier, Chief Croker sent his men into the house. They found the body of William S. Seube in a closet where he had taken refuge, being suffocated by the smoke. Robert Dwyer and his wife were found unconscious in an upper hallway. He had tried to save his wife and before becoming unconscious threw his coat over her face, thereby saving her life.

Mrs. Dwyer was quickly revived, but Mr. Dwyer was in a serious condition and did not respond to treatment readily. It is believed he will recover.

The nine horses in the stable burned to death.

Favorite tonic is White's Cream Vermifuge, the cure for worms and all children's diseases. It not only kills the worms, but removes the mucous and slime in which they build their nests. Its action on the child is mild and leaves him in a healthy condition. Joe Daniel, Surmac, Tenn., says that he gave one of his children White's Cream Vermifuge when the doctor thought it had colic, and from the first dose the child passed seventy-three worms. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Rebel Chief Killed.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 14.—Boris Sarafoff, the most famous of all the leaders of the Bulgarian bands in Macedonia, was shot dead at the threshold of his house Thursday by a Macedonian, who at the time shot and killed another revolutionary chief named Garvanoff, while the latter was in the act of bidding Sarafoff farewell. The Turkish government set a price of $20,000 on his head. He was about 37 years of age.

Killing in Alabama.

Mobile, Ala., Dec. 14—Advices from Thomasville, Clark county, this state, say that T. J. Kiernan, a pumper for the Southern railway at that place, was shot and killed by W. H. Lindsey, a veterinary surgeon and gunsmith. Three shots were fired, all of which took effect, causing death in an hour. It is claimed that Lindsey was an incendiary who fired Kiernan, who was suffering for killing his wife. The affair is said to have originated on Wednesday, and he died Tuesday. Lindsey claims self-defense. The coroner's jury rendered no verdict. There were many witnesses to the shooting. Both men were prominent in the community.

THE OLD VETERANS.

The Times-Union refers to Congressman Sparkman's bill providing for increase of pensions for veterans of the Florida Indian wars as follows:

"One of the bills introduced in the opening days of this term of Congress was one providing for the increase of the pensions of the surviving soldiers of the Florida Indian wars from $8 to $12 per month—an increase of one-half. It was introduced by Congressman Sparkman of the first district, who is always keen to look after the interests of those who did much to make Florida what it is today by wresting the State from the control of the aborigines and ensuring a quiet life for those whites who should follow them into the State to settle it up and develop it.

"The number of these hardy pioneers who dared the lurking ambuscade, the bullet and the knife of the savage is few, and those few are dropping off rapidly. Everything that can be done to render their last days easier for them in the land they won for the white race is only their due. The Standard, the Frenchman, the Englishman had come and gone after having a precarious hold on the mere borders of the land. When the territory was finally turned over to the United States and the Americans sought to finish the work merely began by men of other nationalities these are the men whose efficient aid to the national troops finally gave to the Union the fairest of the sisterhood of States.

"Their deserts can hardly be overestimated and this bill introduced by Congressman Sparkman all who have any acquaintance with the history of Florida will hope to see pass both houses of Congress early in the session."

The publication of a new translation from the German by Mrs. A. L. Wister brings to mind the circumstance connected with her first appearance as a translator. One day, some 40 years ago, Mrs. Wister was shown into the office of the late J. B. Lippincott, founder of the present J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia, and laid a package on his desk, saying: "Mr. Lippincott, here is a book I translated from the German. I want it for a special object, and would like to receive that amount." The book was "Old Mam'selle's Secret," only a few copies were printed. Its success was instantaneous and the first edition was exhausted in a few weeks. This was the beginning of a relationship, extending to the present time, during which the house of J. B. Lippincott Co. has issued more than 50 books from Mrs. Wister's pen. In the dedication of "The Story of a Penny," Mrs. Wister's latest work, published in the German marks the beginning and successful career of her translations, for in dedication of the book she writes: "I take pleasure in inscribing this translation which I shall ever complete—to my children and grandchildren of whom so kindly welcomed the book I published a life-time ago."

Ex-Governor Fairbanks someone says that in view of the intoxicating country has enjoyed under the Taft administration a little ice would be in order on the "morning after."

FIFTH AVENUE'S STOCKINGS.

New York's "four hundred" go into the Christmas festivities with much enthusiasm and good-sized purses. The outlay is almost as large for procuring toys for the children as yachts and autos for the older folks, says The Delineator for December.

Along Fifth Avenue, and all of the other gold-builded avenues of its kind, Christmas comes in on a full tide. It is a festival abundant beyond belief. Little silk stockings that hang from mantels of marble and wonderful carvings are filled to overflow, and splendid Christmas trees bend beneath a bountiful load. And it is because Santa Claus stays so long doing so much for these children, that he no longer is able to get around to all the rest.

It is within the last generation, almost within the last decade, that he nas been coming to the little children of the rich with the unparalleled munificence that makes a catalogue of their Christmas presents read like a tale of Arabian Night's imagery. The great American fortunes that have grown like magic have been spent on yachts and jewels and palatial residences. Now they are being spent on the children, before whom is laid a fabulous wealth of toys. It is almost incredible, but it is true, that a little girl's doll may be as expensive to dress as a woman; a little boy's miniature railroad as elaborately builded as a real one.

FLASHES FROM THE COMMONER.

Let's see, how many years ago was it that we heard some severe denunciation from Republican lips of a Democratic issue of bonds in time of "profound peace?"

A great many concerns that never thought of increasing wages when business was unusually good are reducing wages cheerfully because a flimsy excuse presents therefor.

When a cold makes its appearance use at once Ballard's Horehound Syrup which will speedily overcome it.
WHOOPING COUGH and CROUP Require Prompt Action. SNOW LINIMENT applied to the throat and chest gives wonderful relief, while Ballard's Horehound Syrup will rapidly stop the violent paroxysms of coughing. IT IS THE ONLY COUGH REMEDY THAT WILL POSITIVELY CURE WHOOPING COUGH AND CROUP.

ECCENTRIC IN EATING

ODDITIES OF FAMOUS MEN.

Byron's Dinner of Mashed Potatoes and Vinegar and What Came After. Erasmus Could Not Eat Fish, and Its Odor Threw Him Into a Fever.

Most of us have met some eccentric diner whose differences from those of the other guests were noticeable. And eccentricity is an elastic word, which may be applied as will be shown, in various directions. Sometimes it is genuine, a whim or characteristic which is inherent. Sometimes it is the result of a desire to appear singular and attract notice. To this latter motive probably was due Byron's eccentricity at some dinner tables when, refusing, to everybody's astonishment, the ordinary dishes of each course, he simply mashed potatoes on his plate and poured vinegar over them, eating them in silence and drinking only soda water with them. The chronicler of this episode dryly adds that in the evening Lord Byron went to a club and there had an excellent supper, such as a commonplace people would enjoy. The great bard's eccentricity at dinner led to various minor ones imitating it under the idea that it conferred distinction, even as for a similar reason they copied his turndown collar and loosely knotted tie.

Condiments are among the commonest illustrations of this peculiarity. There is a very old story—nearly a century old, in fact—of a diner in a coffee room who ate no mustard, which so irritated another who held the general opinion about it that after offering it at intervals to the other he jumped up with the cruet and said, "Confound it, sir, you shall have mustard!" Some few people dislike salt, which most deem a necessity. Indeed, some years ago a letter appeared in print from a lady who expressed her opinion that salt was most injurious and was never used in her household, saying, indeed, if we remember rightly, that even her bread and butter were homemade to avoid a particle of the mineral being used at her table. Some people eat salt instead of sugar with puddings, whether from actual preference or the wish for singularity seems doubtful. Others repudiate the mere suggestion of pepper. On the other hand, cayenne is sometimes eaten with everything. Edmund Kean in his latest years used, it is said, to drink brandy with cayenne in it, a beverage which is mentioned as having been liked also by Peter the Great when staying at Saye's court. Mint sauce everybody likes with roast lamb, but some eccentric diners have it served with every joint, which is a peculiar taste, indeed, and one which would have been a fine theme for Charles Lamb. The eating of raspberry jam with roast veal is another peculiarity, a variant of the general custom of having red currant jelly with saddle of mutton, which is indeed an exquisite combination.

Other strange antipathies for commonplace edibles are recorded. Thus Cardan loathed eggs. Neither boiled nor poached had they for him the agreeable associations they have for most of us. The mere sight of them made his gorge rise. What would Charles Lamb have said of a Hanoverian gentleman who was distinguished for his feats in hunting, Herr Vanghuln, who fainted at the sight of roast pig? M. Chesne, secretary to Francis I., detested that general favorite, the apple, as the sight of one made his nose bleed. The learned Trasmus could never eat fish. Indeed, it is said that its odor even was so injurious to the great Dutchman that it caused feverish symptoms. On the other hand, Quin, the actor, every year in the latter part of his life journeyed to the west country to eat John Dory fresh from the sea. The famous scholar Scaliger blanched even at the sight of water cresses.

Very often the unfortunate man who really is the victim of internal whims is not believed to be so, but privately, if not aloud, is characterized as faddish, not to say impertinent. But while such peculiarities as these are due to the stomach, that imperious organ, there are others in diners which are those of prejudice, habit and occasionally the liking for unpopular views. Such diners by no means add to the enjoyment of ordinary people at a "hospitable board," as the old world phrase runs. Thus there is the guest who is worrying himself and everybody else about possible draughts, another who ostentatiously declines all but soup and limits himself to the latter and also has the foolish but by no means uncommon idea that it is unwholesome unless dried up to a crisp brown. If salt be a thing to be shunned by some gastronomes, others have the same notion—which they do not keep to themselves—as to pepper. To missoes are a bugbear to some, mackerel to others. Some eye in disapproving silence the others who eat in the ordinary manner, they themselves dining by strict rule with various omissions in the courses; also there is the diner who experiments, as it were, on his food, tasting each morsel tentatively and with dubious deliberation as if he were not sure he were not being poisoned. There are those who are fretful if there is the least want of mathematical accuracy in laying the table, who are savage if their special knives and forks are absent, who always have dry toast or the like at every meal and who converse on the latest food scare.—London Globe.

THE SKYROCKET.

How It Is Made and the Reason It Rises In the Air.

Of all fireworks none is more beautiful from a pyrotechnic point of view or more generally popular than the skyrocket.

The powder ingredients are sulphur, charcoal and saltpeter, roughly in the proportions of fourteen, twenty-six and sixty respectively. Except in the case of military or life saving rockets, the cylindrical case is of paper or pasteboard, somewhat constricted at the fuse end. Into this the powder is rammed tightly, a conical space being left for the insertion of the quick match which passes through the constriction, or "chokehole," into the mass of powder.

This forms the body of the rocket, which is closed at the top with a plaster of paris plug. Through this a small hole filled with a fuse communicates with the conical shaped head, holding stars, serpents, crackers or gold or silver rain. The whole is, of course, attached to a slender stick to direct its flight.

On the fuse being ignited and the main cylinder of powder exploded the enormous quantity of heated gases generated force their way downward through the narrow box, urging the rocket upward in the air.—Pearson's.

Early to Bed

And early to rise, makes one healthy, happy and wise—especially if you atke Herbine before retiring. A positive cure for constipation, dyspepsia and all liver complaints. Mrs. S——, Columbia, Tenn., writes: "I always keep a supply of your Herbine on hand. Am so pleased with the relief it gives in constipation and all liver complaints, that words can't express my appreciation." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Amended.

A Pennsylvania divine formed one of a house party in Philadelphia where the younger son, in accordance with what the clergyman observed to be his constant habit, as soon as he had seated himself at breakfast immediately possessed himself of a large slice of bread, the quality of which he proceeded to test by a liberal mouthful.

The minister, a stickler in such matters of propriety, gazed blandly at him for a moment or so; then he folded his hands and closed his eyes in preparation for grace.

"For what we are about to receive," he intoned, with painful emphasis, "and for what our young friend has already received, Lord, make us truly thankful."—Harper's Weekly.

Public Speaker Interrupted.

Public speakers are frequently interrupted by people coughing. This would not happen if Foley's Honey and Tar were taken, as it cures coughs and colds and prevents pneumonia and consumption. The genuine contains no opiates and is in a yellow package. J. W. McCollum & Co.

The Greed For Gold.

"It's a deplorable thing, this greed for gold," said the mournful person.

"Of course," answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "If the greed for gold were not so general you and I might have a chance to get some. It's a case of too many people recognizing a good thing and trying to get in on it."—Washington Star.

SERMONETTES

BY J. MARVIN NICHOLS

The critics cannot shake the man content with an humble task.

It is safer to be a first-class tinker than a second-class philosopher.

Keep your head high and go straight forward. You'll reach the goal.

Some men who pray in the meeting-house prey on the street corners.

Every man journeys toward a kingdom in which he is king or vassal.

The unkindest cuts we get fall from lips that ought to frame apologies.

No man hoists more than he is able to bear. Overloaded machinery stops.

Lots of fellows call it bad luck when they only take off a bite too big for them.

Every man that listens to the same drumbeat can keep step in the march of the ages.

That height reached at the expense of another's downfall can never be permanent.

Many men ought to be taken into dry dock and have the barnacles scraped off.

A great many fires are caused by friction between a building and an insurance policy.

Despite the fates, we hunt our El Dorados. Defiant-like, men court the sweet delusion.

In some quarters a man may tote a set of golf clubs but he dare not be seen with a hoe.

In spite of all the mistakes and troubles of love, it remains the world's one great thing.

There is no real life that is not free, and no man is free until he can think and act for himself.

A leap of the world's bad luck is better than a conjured makeshift for indifference or inability.

Love and they will love you. Its power is in itself, even as the violin is the soul of the master.

Why do we look upon the dead and call the nameless vandalisms upon the living?

Many salutations are no more than so many soap fires thrown up by the breath of passion and vice.

Some day when the sons of men set toward useful ends the energies now wasted in willful waste.

"What others say of me matters little. What I say of others matters much."

The dread of social ostracism is no more to be restrained than unrestrained doubts.

of Regret and the other by the land of Misgiving.

This would be all our heaven were love strong enough to wipe out every difference and break down the barriers forever.

Some boast of prizes won that amount to no more than booty taken in the looting of some already impoverished mortal.

That man is very poor who has lots of money and a little brain; that man is very rich who has little money and a capacious brain.

Is it noble to admit when disappointed in the friend that forsakes? And yet, could there be a more overshadowing eclipse?

The student may be able to raise a number to any given power, but he can't raise the power of thought by measuring his hat band.

The happy man is he who can hold himself back from the maddening crowd, yet close enough to feel the throb of every human heart.

A man lives only when he measures life by its intensity. The one who keeps his eye on the crawling hands of the clock never finds the secret.

You're not going to make the world richer by putting coronets on the head of the strong—it's done by lifting burdens off tired and weary shoulders.

I have noticed that intellectual giants are financial pigmies. The man whose head is in the clouds is too far removed to have his hands in the dirt.

The foal of the racer will never know his speed nor discover his powers if always pastured with the common herd destined for the collar and the yoke.

To the person who has observed the great financial upheavals in these latter days it appears that the devilfish and the octopus have moved out on dry land.

Too many young men and women are plunging into the world unfitted for the battle. There will be many who will fail to stem the tide in the years to come.

It may be true that in union there is strength. I have noticed in history, however, that the things which have changed the trend of national destinies were born in dollars brains.

Every fact completing the world. Each one that goes forth must return to us again. You are your own fate. Destiny is self-determined. We create our hells, we make our heavens.

A great deal depends on how gaily a freeman proves it by starting out to walk in a prison suit from Buffalo to Cleveland. He was arrested nine times inside of thirty miles. See?

No play is well staged unless it ends beautifully. When the curtain falls the last act in life's drama ought to linger with the world like the afterglow of a sun long since gone down.

Character is not a growth by annexation. It is an empire whose boundaries are like the universe. The truth is everyone is born great—great if he has power to sway the scepter in his kingdom.

While reading the new from the Far East I notice that the Christian Greeks have asked the Mohammedan Turks to save them from the Christians in Bulgaria. What a traversity that is!

The difference between the stupid ox and the man is the gray matter in their pates. It is the distance between brain and brains. A pennyweight of the one is worth a pound of the other.

A blind phrenologist might make some startling discoveries were he feeling the knots of a pumpkin. Some men make me think so much of a thing like that and I wonder if it's possible.

Be assured that the ghosts of the present now will throw their phantom shadows on the gilt and tinsel of the coming years. The happy visions of this day are to be ruined, maybe, by the winding trail of ruthless and relentless memories.

Mark Twain never writes the word "metropolis" but always uses the word "city." He says he gets just as much money for the short word, conveys the same meaning, and saves lots of time. After all, wealth is the sum total of our margins.

The horse running behind is not the loser every time. One of the high tests is a racer's ability to stay in. There are some who never know how to reserve power for the home stretch. The man that learns it may be behind now, but he'll pass under the wire a full length ahead.

It is easy to be true when no strain is brought to beat upon your confidence. And, then, it is so easy for some to be false—without the strain. Don't be a consummate slave. Quit doing like somebody else. Do just like you feel you ought to do. Be free—be a king in your own kingdom.

An old Teutonic schoolmaster was in the habit of doffing his hat to his students. A self-important one chided him for so doing and the master told him that among them might be one whose destiny would eclipse his own some day. And well he might, for he was training Martin Luther—then in rags and singing on the streets in the twilight for bread.

In this age of financial fury the boy scarcely knows his father. Really he is no more than a mere acquaintance. In the home everybody is so busy—mother is overwhelmed by social functions and the father is immersed in financial titles. There is something fearfully sad about it all. The old fireside chat and the sacred bonds of the family circle have about become treasures of the past.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is to Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficacy of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair signs now look sick and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not. But Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from all oil or grease.

POLICEMAN KILLS NEGRO.

Atlanta, Dec. 14.—Patrolman Worley, a negro, was shot and killed by County Officer Riley in Pittsburg, a suburb of Atlanta, Thursday night.

It seems that the negro had resisted arrest and attempted to use his gun when the officer first approached him.

A riot was narrowly averted.

The scramble took place near the scene of the Pickering riot, which occurred in May of 1862, in which three officers and a bailiff were killed and several officers were wounded by a negro desperado who barricaded himself in a house and defied arrest.

320 Bodies Recovered.

Monongah, W. Va., Dec. 14.—State Mine Inspector Paul of West Virginia is making a thorough examination of mines Nos. 6 and 8. Until Mr. Paul concludes his investigation all rescue work at the mines has been stopped. Explosions were heard. Thursday night at which time a total of 320 bodies had been recovered. The result of the inspector's investigation is awaited with interest as it is believed it will throw some light on the cause of the explosion which entombed so many victims.

How Diphtheria is Contracted.

One often hears the expression "My child caught a severe cold which developed into diphtheria," when the truth was that the cold had simply left the little one particularly susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given it quickly cures the cold and avoids the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted. For sale by all druggists.
